About: South Carolina's public alcohol and drug abuse system is made up of 32 county alcohol and drug abuse authorities that provide prevention, intervention and treatment services in all 46 counties. Each of these county authorities is governed by a board comprised of local residents who volunteer their time to provide guidance for their respective county authorities.

Each year, the directors of the 32 county authorities, all members of the Behavioral Health Services Association of SC, Inc., sponsor a seminar as a training and recognition event for these board members from throughout the state.
